New Collegiate Division

The New Collegiate Division offers a variety of interdisciplinary courses in addition to those particularly related to the concentration programs. One of the purposes of the division is to provide a forum for new ideas in teaching: certainly only one such forum among many in the College and the University, but for some teachers, and for some subjects cutting across familiar academic lines, the most convenient one. These courses are as a rule open to all students. Indeed, they usually aspire to attract students with different interests and backgrounds.

Courses

21100. Global Environmental Politics. (=ENST 24900, PBPL 24300) For course description, see Environmental Studies. E. Tennant. Spring.

24100. The Environment in U.S. Politics. (=ENST 24100, PBPL 22600) For course description, see Environmental Studies. A. McCright. Autumn.

27300. Is Development Sustainable? (=BPRO 23400, ENST 24400, HIPS 23400, PBPL 24400) PQ: Third- or fourth-year standing. For course description, see Environmental Studies. T. Steck, Staff. Spring.

27400. Biological and Cultural Evolution. (=BIOS 29286, BPRO 23900, CHSS 37900, HIPS 23900, LING 11100, PHIL 32500) PQ: Third- or fourth-year standing. Core background in evolution and genetics strongly recommended. This course draws on readings and examples from linguistics, evolutionary genetics, and the history and philosophy of science. We elaborate theory to understand and model cultural evolution, as well as to explore analogies, differences, and relations to biological evolution. We also consider basic biological, cultural, and linguistic topics and case studies from an evolutionary perspective. Time is spent both on what we do know, and on determining what we don't. W. Wimsatt, S. Mufwene. Winter, 2003.

28000. World of Biblical Prophets. (=HUMA 23400, JWSC 23400, JWSG 33400) This course offers an in-depth analysis of the biblical prophets. Each prophet is set in historical time and within a particular societal context. Against this background, a profile of the man is drawn. What was he like as social reformer and religious thinker? What did he say "no" to in society and "no" to in organized worship? And to what did he say "yes?" How was his message received and what influence did it have in its day? Is the individual prophet merely a historical figure or a curiosity of antiquity, or does he speak to us in our age? H. Moltz. Autumn, 2002.
