The general education requirement in the arts provides an introduction to methods for analyzing, comprehending, and appreciating works of dramatic, musical, or visual art by examining their formal vocabularies and how these vocabularies are used to create meaning. This is accomplished either by the intensive study of selected masterpieces or by producing original works.

The courses that satisfy this requirement, listed below, come from a variety of departments and are designed not as specialized introductions to one single field or creative practice, but instead are expressly designed to broadly investigate the arts through study and practice. For that reason, only these courses can be used to satisfy the general education requirement in the arts. Substitutes, including upper-level electives, will not be approved.

Notes:
- MAAD 26210 Media Art and Design Practice and CRWR 18200 Poetry and the Human III are affiliated with HUMA 16000-16100-16200 Media Aesthetics: Image, Text, Sound I-II-III and HUMA 18000-18100-18200 Poetry and the Human I-II-III, respectively. They are offered in Spring Quarter, simultaneous with the third course in the humanities sequence. First-year students satisfying the general education requirement in the humanities with one of those sequences will have priority in enrollment for the associated arts course.
- The departments that offer courses for the general education requirement in the arts may require or encourage students in their major to complete this requirement in a specific way. Be sure to check the department’s page under Programs of Study.
- Students who completed TAPS 28400 or TAPS 28401 prior to Autumn 2016 may count those courses toward this general education requirement. However, they are no longer approved for the requirement in the arts.
