Minor Program in Norwegian Studies

Students in any field may complete a minor in Norwegian Studies. A Norwegian Studies minor will consist of the beginning language cycle (NORW 10100-10200-10300) as the language component of the minor. Three additional courses are required to complete the minor. Students choose these courses in consultation with the program administrator.

* Students may choose from NORW 10400 Intermediate Norwegian I: Introduction to Literature, NORW 10500 Intermediate Norwegian II, or any 20000-level Norwegian language and/or literature courses.

Students who elect the minor program in Norwegian Studies must meet with the program administrator before the end of Spring Quarter of their third year to declare their intention to complete the minor and must submit the Consent to Complete a Minor Program (https://humanities-web.s3.us-east-2.amazonaws.com/college-prod/s3fs-public/documents/Consent_Minor_Program.pdf) form obtained from their College adviser or online. The student should submit the department's approval for the minor program to the College adviser by the deadline above on the form.

Courses in the minor may not be double counted with the student’s major(s) or with other minors and may not be counted toward general education requirements. NORW 24919. Nordic noir. 100 Units.
Sometimes described as a dark subset of the popular crime fiction genre, Nordic noir has come to command particular attention, not least because of its strong focus on the Nordic landscape. Scandinavian crime fiction also provides a window into the welfare state, offering an unsparing critique of the social and political model. Finally, there is the strange dissonance between the violence of this genre and the mild-mannered countries from which it derives. Our reading begins with the Swedish married couple, Sjöwall and Wahlöö and The Locked Room from their police procedural “Novel of a Crime” series (1965-1975). From there we proceed to another Swede, Henning Mankell, and his first Kurt Wallander novel, Faceless Killers. Next, we take up Norwegian Jo Nesbø’s The Redbreast, the third of the Harry Hole series. Former Norwegian Justice Minister turned crime novelist Anne Holt, authored our fourth novel, 1222, a snow-bound homage to Christie’s Mousetrap. We will close with Ekman’s short and compelling Under the Snow, first published in 1962, but not translated into English until 1997.
